

HEROIC WORK TO SAVE MULES

Nine Small Mules Burned in Barn
Fire at Mortons Gap.

FIFTEEN ANIMALS SAVED BY
HAYES JONES, JESS COVINGTON.

Fire occurred at Mortons Gap Wednesday night, destroying one of the St. Bernard Mule barns and causing the death of nine mules, all of which were small bank mules, together with harness and hay in the barn. Cause of the fire is unknown, though it is suggested that possibly some driver who put his mule in the barn from the mine, during the earlier part of the night, may have lighted his pipe and dropped a spark in some way.

There were twenty-four mules in the barn at the time of the fire, all but nine of which were gotten out without injury. One badly burned, bolted out of the fire and ran through a strong board fence and had to be killed. The total loss is something like $1700.

Heroic work was done to save the mules by Hayes Jones, the night watchman, and Jess Covington, colored, a mule driver, who saw the fire as he was on his way from the mine to put his mule in the barn. Mr. Jones had visited the barn less than an hour before and assisted in putting away one mule. Everything was safe then and no open light was used, the rule being to use lanterns only. Neither Mr. Jones nor the driver knew the other was in the barn while the rescue work went on, and each thought after it was over, that he had been the only one in the barn. Mr. Jones was kicked in the region of the stomach but was not disabled. These two men, working in smoke and confusion, unloosed all but four of the mules, and these could not be gotten at and remained in their stalls. The moon was bright as day outside but in the barn the dense smoke and darkness in spite of the fire. The loss was covered by insurance.

Do You Get Up

With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder, and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or had effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Box 518, Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

When writing be sure and mention this paper. Regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

Whereas, It has pleased our Divine Father to call from the walks of life our beloved brother, Cale Young Clark;

Resolved, That the heartfelt sympathy of this Lodge be tendered the bereaved family and that we commend them in this hour of trial and sorrow to the care and guidance of the God of the widow and the Father of the fatherless.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the Bee for publication; a copy be furnished the sorrowing family, and a copy also spread on the records of this Lodge.

"The Vulture Claw."

We have just finished reading the "Vulture's Claw" by Rev. C. F. Wimberly pastor of the Methodist Church of Madisonville and consider it one of the best of its kind. The close attention of the reader is held from the first to the last chapter and the interest never flags from the time the certain rises on Silas Bartman the unspeakable wretch until it falls on Dixie Wiggins the Skaggs Valley angel. The whole story is replete with passages sparkling with wit and interspersed with humor. Mr. Wimberly has portrayed his characters with power and endowed them with vices and virtues in a peculiarly interesting manner. It may be said of "The Vulture's Claw" that no man or woman can read it thoughtfully without having been made better from the wholesome lessons of simple faith and Christian fortitude portrayed in every chapter. We predict for this book a wonderful sale and believe that Rev. Wimberly has given the world something that will live.

Dixie Minstrels Tomorrow Night.

When Barton & Wiswell's famous all star colored Down in Dixie Minstrels come to Temple Theater, Saturday, Dec. 17, local Theatre goers will have an opportunity to judge for themselves what a first class minstrel show really is. Probably no artist in the country has the following that John D. Ruckner has. Mr. Ruckner who is the leading humorist and who has earned the right to be called the best negro comedian now before the public is supported by a company of clever singers and dancers who bring the production up to a notch of perfection seldom accomplished by a similar organization.

All the songs are new, the humor clean and crisp while the scenic equipment is on the stupendous order. The company travels its own private cars.

Then there is a street parade with the full strength of the company including the famous Gold Seal Comet band of twenty adroit musicians. If present indications count for anything the coming of this incomparable troupe should prove one of the biggest theatrical events of the season.

AIR PIPE GAVE THEM LIFE IN DEADLY MINE GASES.

Cincinnati, Dec. 15.—Two of the thirteen men entombed by the double mine explosion at Tazewell, Va., yesterday in which ten lives were lost emerged from the workings today in fairly good physical condition according to a special to the Times Star from Bluefield, West Va. They told a dramatic story of the desperate struggle to prolong life under ground and how a small hole in an air pipe saved them while their comrades perished.

C. E. Leppman and John Sate are the survivors of the struggle in the dark. When the explosion took place they rushed for the air shaft. Finding exit impossible they grasped a sledge hammer and with it broke a hole in the small air pipe.

By placing their mouths close to this hole they obtained sufficient oxygen to keep the deadly gases formed by the explosion away from their lungs.

Madisonville Notes

By AILEEN DAVIS.

Miss Aileen Davis was in Hanson yesterday in interest of the Earlington Bee.

The Blue Stocking Club meets Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Mary Ruby Morton at 2:30 p. m. Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Freeman, of Austin, left Wednesday for Italy, Texas to visit relatives for a couple of week.

Miss Lillian Robards left Thursday night for Clarksdale, Miss., to spend the Holidays with friends and relatives.

The Thursday afternoon club met yesterday afternoon at the home of the Carrie Atkinson in Earlington but too early for the particulars for this issue of the Bee.

The following officers were elected at the home of Mrs. Will Gordon on East Arch Street, Thursday evening December 14. Mrs. W. S. Elgin Pres. Mrs. R. Laffoon, Vice Pres., Miss Dorothy Dean, Sec. and Miss Aileen Davis, Treas.

Rev. J. B. Adams, our Presiding Elder of the Henderson District, of the Methodist church, will be in Madisonville Sunday to hold service of the Methodist church in this city. Mr. Adams is well known in this county and is loved by all who know him.

The Christian Endeavor, of the Christian church, will meet with the Ladies' Aid, of the First Christian church Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Rucker, of Evansville, Ind., the organizer for the American Women's League in the districts who has been in Madisonville for the past week, has been extensively entertained by the members of the organization, and has held each day since she has been in this city several meetings for the purpose of enlarging the roll of the organization. She has given many excellent lectures concerning this, the greatest of all opportunities for the American women, as given by Mr. Lewis of University City, St. Louis. Miss Rucker is an enthusiastic worker in this cause and is ever telling something new to those whom she comes in contact with the many, excellent opportunities offered by the League. Besides the many meetings she has held here, she has also spent several days in our sister city, Earlington promoting this same cause, and has done a great deal of personal work in both places.

One of the most unique affairs, attended by an immense crowd of the young people of this town and Earlington, was the Benefit Social given for the purpose of aiding the M. H. S. Football team, given at the home of Misses Francis and Inez Elgin by the members of the "S. G. S." Each guest bringing the same number of pennies as they were years old. Booths were arranged around in the different rooms at which were sold Confections of all kinds. The evening closed with a "Trip around the world." The little tots of the town being dressed up in costumes of the different countries and serving at eight different stations the favored dish of that country. A nice sum was realized and throughout the entire evening the entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed, and clever in every detail. This also certainly deserve a great deal of credit for this enormous undertaking and the manner in which they handled the crowd. Most all of the young society people of Earlington, together with Madisonville younger set. This immense home was well filled.

FOLK LORE OF DAY

BELGIAN CHRISTMAS CUSTOMS THAT ARE DYING OUT.

Celebration of Festival Still Presents Much That is Interesting—Old Customs Traceable to Heathen Rites and Practices.

ALTHOUGH not so keenly followed up as in Germany and England, the festival of Christmas, as celebrated in Belgium, still presents a certain amount of interest, especially in respect to its traditional aspect. Many of the old customs, which today are but a mere mockery of their original selves, are traceable to old heathen rites and practices.

These customs have been modified with a view of bringing them into as close obedience as possible with the instructions of the Vatican.

One of the earliest tasks in this respect was the encouragement of the old custom of ceasing work for 12 days after Christmas and postponing the discussion of all differences and legal disputes for the same period. Among the "seasonable customs and beliefs" which have for the most part been dying out, if they are not already dead in many parts of the country, are the following:

Christmas are being dedicated to Adam and Eve, boys born on that day were christened Adam, and girls Eve. Fortune telling on Christmas day was indulged in; at Brussels, for example, the burghers assembled around the fire and roasted chestnuts, listening to their "fortunes" meanwhile. At Spa, a handful of salt was cast upon the table by the host; if it melted there would be a death in the family or else a wet year in the country, though if the salt remained hard a guest would die, if, by chance, one of the lights went out at the critical moment.

Among the metal workers of the province of Hainaut molten lead was plunged into water, and the figures produced by the operation were supposed to represent incidents in the life of the "plunger."

In the Ardennes, the weather for the coming year was determined by placing lighted candles in walnut shells, which were allowed to float on a basin of water. If the candles went out the year would be a bad one, agriculturally speaking; if the remained alight until the end it would be a good year.

Nuts thrown on the fire by lovers foretold joy if they burned with a spattering; sorrow, if there was any noise.

According to an existing belief, everything living changes its position at the hour of midnight on Christmas day. Everything sown in the fields that day is bound to bear fruit—even though it be sown on the snow itself.

While it is considered unlucky to spin flax on Christmas day, a shirt made from flax on that night is "good for many ills." Christmas day eggs always produce fine chicks. A farmer could ensure good crops from his fruit trees by striking them with an ax on Christmas day, always provided that nobody went near the trees with a spinning wheel within 24 hours.

In the province of Antwerp the peasants say that a "hellwagon" or chariot of blood is driven through the sky at full gallop on Christmas night, the explanation being that some impious peasant dared to go out wood gathering with his wagon one Christmas night, and that, by way of punishment, he is condemned to drive through the sky year by year.

Decorations in Middle Ages.

They did their Christmas decorations very thoroughly in the middle ages. "Every man's house, as also the parish churches, were decked with holly, ivy, hays and whatever the season of the year afforded to be green," we read in Stow, but he omits to mention that decking with evergreens in the month of December, like most of the details of our Christmas festivities, was heathen in origin. It originated, say that a "hellwagon" or chariot of blood is driven through the sky at full gallop on Christmas night, the explanation being that some impious peasant dared to go out wood gathering with his wagon one Christmas night, and that, by way of punishment, he is condemned to drive through the sky year by year.

instated, for all that, in a very poetic idea, for the Druids did it so that the woodland spirits might have a warm place in which to take shelter until the spring came round again and the trees out of doors once more had leaves of their own.

No Leavings.

Tramp (to little Willie, who has opened the door)—Have you had your Christmas dinner yet, little boy?

Willie—No; we're just going to eat it now.

Tramp—Then perhaps if I wait around I can get some of the eatables left over?

Little Willie (feeling of his stomach)—There ain't going to be anything left.

Gossip.

Are you a gossip? Do you, by repetition of what another has said, by a suppression of one item or the addition of another, by half hints, by seemingly knowing looks, help to disseminate those tiny seeds which grow into such noxious weeds along the path of some fellow man or woman.

The deadliest concealed weapon is not the stilette that leaps, blood-thirsty, from its sheath, nor the pistol that travels in the hip pocket always ready for carnage. It is that "little member," "that serpent tongue."

The victims of the dagger and the gun are counted in the court records and the hospital wards, but no one numbers the reputations that go down before the gossiping tongues

"where two or three are gathered together," to tell all they know of neighbors and acquaintances. And yet the evil of the latter often outweighs that of the former. A cut or a bullet wound may heal, but there is no patching or darning the rent in a character. The scar from blade or cartridge may be covered, and so in time be forgotten; but in every company into which a slandered man or woman enters there will be some one knows the old gossip and who plainly sees the torn place in the reputation.

The deplorable part of many such defamations is that they are either altogether undeserved, or else have been grossly exaggerated from insignificant facts. Every person who repeats a piece of evil gossip adds to it, consciously or unconsciously. The desire to surprise, to be worth listening to, is inherent with all tale bearers, therefore it is next to impossible to repeat a story just as it was received. By word, by tone, by lifted brows, by shrugged shoulders we barb the shaft that it may cleave the wider wound; and the person next in line does the same.

This is the way slander grows. The person who starts the tale only plants the seed; it is the dozens of repeaters who pad it out until it obscures all that is best and true in the unfortunate subject. Many a clean handed man, many a white hearted woman has been crucified on the crossboard of evil speaking, lying and slandering. There is in the dialogue no written command,

Thou shalt not tattle; but every time we repeat a story that we do not know to be absolutely true, we "bear that false witness" that is forbidden. It is possible that the recording angel writes no blacker words against our names than those that keep count of the gossip we repeat and the slanders we perpetuate.

"Am I my brother's keeper?" was the question asked of old. And the answer might well be that so far as our own tongues go we are the keeper of his fair name. We may not protect him from bodily hurt or from ills that lie outside of our sphere; but we can protect him from ourselves—from the mean, dishonorable tale bearing we call gossip, and which we thoughtlessly disseminate on the street corners.

We have no right to make a great outcry against the knife bearer or the pistol "toter" as menaces to society while we ourselves go through the world stinging and stabbing, unheeding, with that deadliest of all weapons, the gossip's tongue.

Gift-buyers APPRECIATE store advertising containing a great variety of SUGGESTIONS, of descriptions and prices.

If you've worked hard to build up a successful store, don't advertise so sparingly that no one would suppose you had succeeded.

There is no other Catholic in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a fatal disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven cancer to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Pull's Cancer Cure, manufactured by J. J. ## Temporary Heat Quickly

Did you ever stop to think of the many ways in which a perfect oil heater is of value? If you want to sleep with your window open in winter, you can get sufficient heat from an oil heater while you undress at night, and then turn it off. Apply a match in the morning, when you get out of bed, and you have heat while you dress.

Those who have to eat an early breakfast before the stove is radiating heat can get immediate warmth from an oil heater, and then turn it off.

The girl who practices on the piano in a cold room in the morning can have warmth from an oil heater while she plays, and then turn it off.

The member of the family who has to walk the floor on a cold winter's night with a restless baby can get temporary heat with an oil heater, and then turn it off. The

AD-TALK

What would you think of a salesman who reported for duty one day, lay off for two, worked a half day, went off for a week and so on without any regularity? Surely you would not expect good service from such a man. And yet some merchants hold advertising, which is simply a "salesman," up to great results when it is allowed to "work" very irregularly.

The fact that advertising costs money is proof of its value. Things without cost are usually worth only their price.

MAIL ORDER TRUST METHODS

Advertised Goods Usually Barely Within Letter of Attractive Catalogue and Circulars.

Monopoly thrives and prospers on an institution and fraud. The large mail order houses sell their goods
from vivid pictures and glowing descriptions.

They pay, and can well afford to pay, more to those who make their catalogues, their pictures and descriptions than to the working men and laborers who manufacture the goods they sell.

The cardinal principle of their business is to determine a price and description which will be most attractive to the purchaser.

They then figure to produce an article which barely fits within the letter of their circular, and at as low a cost as possible, so as to bring to themselves the greatest margin of profit.

You who thus purchase these goods sacrifice your honor and patriotism at the shrine of money.

You have robbed your wife and children of part of your society and education for the sake of a few pennies.

"You are, after all, an American,"
says the Newsweek (Ohio). "Now, you believe in American institutions; you deary anarchy and strive in the main to uphold American ideas. Why not seek to promote local home trade?"

"Why not advise with your fellow men to defeat the seeming irre-sistible progress of this monopoly?"

"Your neighbors are doing so; you,
at least, will not be behind them.
Perhaps it may be said of Smith, or Brown, or Jones down the road that they are miserly and close and will not join in anything for the public good, but you will not allow the same to be said of you."

You desire to be always in the fore in any movement which will

better your town or neighborhood.
When you realize what this movement means you will certainly be one of the first to give it your support.

It is quite true that the store that advertises is able, through a larger volume of sales, to understand MATERIALLY the store
that is either not advertised at all,
or that is but poorly advertised—
and we are reminding our readers of that fact a great deal, because it is an important fact to them.

As a result of this campaign,
within our columns, in behalf of advertising, ever line and every word of advertising space in the newspaper has an increased value to the advertiser. Every reader who comes to realize the importance of the ads., and to read and answer them regularly, is an addition to our "circulation" that counts for the advertiser—and counts BIG.

We believe that this service is our advertisers—the service of making the space they place their use in our paper increasingly valuable to them by daily effectiveness—is in us, and we propose to continue it on even a more aggressive scale.

This policy is of great significance to buyers of advertising space. For an advertiser who buys space in a paper that does not "advertise its advertising"
is as unfortunate and as unwise as would be the shoppers who patronize a store that did not advertise. There is no essential difference between the two cases
—so far as the principals involved are concerned; nor so far as the results are concerned.

Loyal Service.

We are all workers, one
for the other and the following well put views by Hubbard, are also less applicable to publishers and employing printers than to journeymen,
says the Auxiliary.

It is not only business wisdom to rightly, royally, effectually serve customers, readers and advertisers, but it is a duty that, well performed, brings highest satisfaction with permanent success that is above all temporary gain.

"If you work for a man, in heaven's name work for him.
If he pays you wages that supply your bread and butter, work for him, speak
well of him, think well of him, stand by him, and stand by the institute he represents.
I think if I worked for a man
I would work for him. I would not work for him a part of his time, but all of the time.
I would give an undivided service or none. If put to a pinch an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness."

"If you must vilify, condemn and eternally disparage,
why resign your position
and when you are outside damn to your heart's content.
But, I pray you, so long as you are a part of the institution, do not condemn it. Not that you will injure the institution—not that—but when you disparage the concern of which you are a part you dis-parage yourself and don't forget—I forgot' won't do in business."

Do Something.

Young man, do not stand yawning and lounging on the threshold of a glorious future that is brimful of golden opportunities and untold wealth in its hidden recesses awaiting for development by an application of your mind and muscles, but pull off your coat, up with your sleeves, spit on your hands, take hold and arouse your energy from its slothful and lazy inclination and what wealth the world will yield you. The coming years are big with possibilities and as chuck-full of glorious prospects as the milky way is strewn with stars, or the sunny lands with roses.

The way is open for every one, and you are invited to step in, take your place, act your part, assume some responsibility make your mark and raise such a dust in the atmosphere
about you, your shov going companies will lose sight of you and be mourning as one dead to them.
There is much you can do and a great deal that you cannot do, but don't get discouraged, for courage is the favorite of fortune.

You may be able to write a beautiful poem, a touching sonnet, or die

of starvation; but you can, if need be, go to work humbly as a porter, buy a whisk broom, wear people's clothes out with it, and in five years
go to Europe in your own special car. As the strawberry said to the box, "There is always room on top."
—Exchange.

You couldn't consider for a moment any plan to try to do business in this city without advertising. So why do you imagine that you can accomplish big thing with only HALF ENOUGH advertising.

To make your advertising better—completer, fuller of store-
news and suggestions to buyers—
is to make your STORE SER-VICE better, more satisfying.

If the patronage of the readers of this newspaper is important to you, make your store advertising important to THEM.

Say Tip Top Flour to your grocery man.

The Red Cherry

A mistletoe berry
Had caught in her hair!
She wasn't to blame,
That mistletoe berry
A-tilt in her hair.

Lips red as a cherry,
It hardly was fair,—
Yet he wasn't to blame,
For't clear that the same
Was the fault of the berry
That caught in her hair.

THE CALL OF CHRISTMAS

Inspiration of Time Should Bring Us Deeper Sense of Personal Responsibility.

It is Christmas time, and at this moment the call is to lift up our hearts and welcome the Light of the World, to rest for a while in the glory of that light; not, indeed, forgetting the lessons he would have us learn, nor those great servants of his who taught us to know and love and work, and have passed away; but in thankfulness and adoration seeking to learn more and more how he would have us serve him. The inspiration of this blessed time should bring us a deeper sense of personal responsibility, and of our duty to our neighbor in regard to questions touching the general welfare; and, beyond all, a deeper faith—that faith by which mountains can be removed—and a truer love, a devotion that can bear even the reproach of the cross. If permission may be granted to share in bearing a part of that burden.

The advent of Christ makes us debtors to God and man. It is therefore not for us to question whether others are kind to us, as whether there is love, gentleness, meekness, sympathy and helpfulness in our own lives, or not. With this spirit of the season reflected and perpetuated in the life, Christmas giving will resolve itself into Christlike giving every day from Christmastide to Christmastide of every year of grace. Christ came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, to suffer, and to die for others, even his enemies. Rising far above the lower aim of getting and gaining solely for the self, the grateful heart will ask: "What can I give to my Redeemer who gave himself for me, and what can I do for others, for his sake, and the people?" That is the redemption of the Christ spirit, and exalts him who said: "And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me."

THE GOOD TIME COMING

Christmas an Earnest of Better Day
When War and Devastation Shall Cease.

Christmas is an earnest of that better day when the awful waste of war, the devastation of preventable disease and the burdens of poverty which so shame our overabundance shall disintegrate like some evil dream of an ignorant past. Then, indeed, there will be no trace of mockery in the resounding professions of good will; the poet's forecast will take form in that realized state "wherein no lives are seen huddled in lanes unseen," but where a righteous plenty spreads itself far and wide.

'Tis where the home is pure,
'Tis where the bread is sure,
'Tis where the wants are fewer
And each want fed:
Where plenty and peace abide,
Where health dwells heavenly-eyed,
Where in nooks beautiful
Slumber the dead."

Important.

Millionaire (to his daughter—"Tell me, child—that young man who wants to marry you this Christmas, has he got any money?"
Miss Innocence—"Money, father? Why, he has just given me a cluster diamond ring studded with pearls!"
Millionaire—"Yes, I know. Has he any money left?"

Christmas Omens.

Happy and prosperous will be the babe born at Christmas; long-lived and happy the bride that is married then; and it is very lucky for Christmas to fall on a Monday. It is good to give gifts of many kinds at this season; but not to housewife, be she the most free-handed woman in the world, throw or give away ashes or salt before breakfast on Christmas morning. A bright Christmas means a bright New Year, and may this Christmas be of brightest omen!

BIGGEST FUNERAL ON RECORD

Little Long Island Church Too Small to Admit Body of Giant Hotel Keeper.

When the body of William H. Burnett, the 575-pound tavern keeper, was lowered into its 9 by 5 by 7 foot grave in the little country churchyard, the hamlet of Locust Valley, L. I., saw the last of the man who had given it more or less prominence.

It was the biggest funeral that records seem to know anything about, for Burnett's immense weight made it necessary for the ordinary funeral ceremony to be performed on unusual lines. The coffin, a metallic one weighing 400 pounds, had no handles and was lifted by means of seven-foot hickory boards placed underneath.

Twelve stalwart fellows, each one six feet in height and selected beforehand by Burnett himself, had the job of their lives in lifting the coffin and the body through the large double window of the house to a wagon, as there was no hearse large enough.

At the Little Dutch Reformed church, where the services were held, the door was too small to admit the coffin and it remained in the wagon while Rev. John W. Gammon, of Glen Cove, conducted the services.

At the graveside there was further difficulty, for while the rough box of two-inch ash, eight feet long, five feet wide and three feet deep, the combined weight that the pallbearers had to handle was about 1,150 pounds. The grave took two men two days to dig.

The heaviest man of whom there is authentic record, according to Chambers' Encyclopedia, was Daniel Lambert, an Englishman, who died in 1809. Lambert weighed 729 pounds.

The greatest danger from influenza is of its resulting in pneumonia. This can be obviated by using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, as it not only cures influenza, but counteracts any tendency of the disease toward pneumonia. Sold by Geo. King & Sons.

EMERGENCY SALE

We Are in the Midst of an Emergency---we Must Have Money

Again conditions we have been unable to handle have placed us where we least like to be. In spite of our annual resolve to buy conservatively we have again failed to bridle our spirit of progressiveness. Each year brings with it handsomer, more entrancing Fruit of the Loom (merchandise); and in our eagerness to have in our store everything that is good and beautiful we have overridden our better judgment and bought for this season as we should have for a market twice the size of ours.

While our business this fall has been very good, showing an increase over last fall and that of 1908, yet, as a result of our "mad" effort to buy all that is new, stylish and attractive for our good town and county, we have heavily overstocked ourselves, and know it would be unwise to postpone until after the holidays, a determined effort to transform our magnificent stock into hard cash. Right now our bookkeeper tells us he needs money, needs money badly, needs quantities of money, and must have it; therefore, that we may give the people a chance to buy their Christmas and other winter goods at a reduction just at the very time they want them, and at the same time satiate our bookkeeper we have decided to launch a cut price sale, which we shall designate "Emergency Sale." Sale opens December 13 and continues until the end of the year. Of course, this hurts badly, for if a business is not to show a profit in the heat of the season, when is it? But, profit or no profit, we must have money. Our stocks are too heavy, and no firm can more bitterly oppose carrying merchandise from one year into the next; therefore, in this extremity, we shall, during the remainder of this year make the following discounts for cash throughout our entire house.

Please read the details below very carefully to obviate all chance of a misunderstanding, for we shall fulfill our proposition to the letter.
